A Yanagigahira Walking Path

One loop is around 2.5km. Elevation: around 480-510m.

This course is smooth going for the majority of the way as you walk through a light forest. Broad leaf forest. After a relatively easy climb up to the summit, a 280-degree panorama spreads out before you. The relaxing feeling that fills you as you look out on the landscape has given the place its name: "Life Cleaning Point".

B Mitarashi Trail

One way around 900m. Elevation: around 500m-550m.

Handicraft and Yamatsuyuki flowers, mountain sakaki, red pine, and many others line the path. In autumn, leaves changing to the colors of fall can be seen, making for a vivid, yet hazy, course. If you step a little away from the path, you can see Kotani River Canyon's Hanafusa Falls.

C Maruo Nature Trail

General distance around 2.3km. Elevation: around 500m-750m.

Inside the national park, as you walk along a flagstone path, you can see huge trees over 200 years old, wild deer, rare insects, and wild birds. In early morning the area is wrapped in fog, giving it a mysterious atmosphere. Near the course is Kirishima's oldest outdoor stone bath.

D Kirishima Shinsui Gorge Promenade

Complete Length: 1.8km. Elevation: Approximately 348m to 365m above sea level.

This course, near Kirishima Jingu Shrine, begins in a beautiful valley almost 20m deep, and is made up from maintained walking paths that follow the clear river. From these paths, you can enjoy the various nature of Kirishima. There are 3 viewing platforms for the many geosites that you'll see, such as the columnar joints and a magnificent waterfall. You'll also see red pine lining the path leading back to the beginning of the promenade. Within this course, there are also maintained paths made to be accessible to everyone, so that people of any generation can fully enjoy the nature found here.

The Kirishima Myouken Course follows the path that Sakamoto Ryoma, who laid the foundation for Japan's modernization, and his wife, Oryo, took when they traveled on Japan's first recorded honeymoon.

By visiting the "Love and Healing Course" and "Kirishima Myouken Course" as a couple, strengthen the bonds between you and your significant other.

- Along the trail there are markers modeled after the Jeju Island horse called "Kanse". Keep and eye out for them as you leisurely make your way.
- Blue route markers point out the path (Red markers point out the reverse direction)
- Blue and red ribbons hang above the path.
